

That tells me ... and you?

Taking up the principle of the show Y'a pas d'lézard [3] broadcast the previous season, Stéphane Tapie and his band make sketches and present chronicles intended for young adolescents between two sitcoms produced by Disney. From July 1995, the show will be without presenters, and will offer 3 sitcoms in a row.